New arts camp to open this summer at Gould Academy

Open house set for March 6

By ALISON ALOISIO

A new summer camp that hopes to draw 300 kids and their families to Bethel will open on the Gould Academy campus this year.

The Bethel Camp for the Arts will utilize a variety of business and natural resources in the area, according to director Rick Mades.

As the name implies, the camp will offer activities including theater, music, dance, pottery, drawing, and sculpture.

But it will also offer such activities as robotics, rocketry, golf, kayaking, mountain biking and tennis.

The camp's purpose, said Mades, is to provide a combination of enrichment activities and non-competitive individual sports.

Two, two-week sessions are planned for this summer.

The camp, said Mades, will "fill a needed void in the summer camp industry. Two-week campers are difficult to find. And it's non-competitive — a lot of kids don't fit in at regular camps."

Youngsters between the ages of 8 and 14 may attend.

Over the next three to four years, Mades said, he hopes to work up to having between 130 and 140 kids a season.

He plans to utilize the nearby Bethel Inn Country Club for golf activities, as well as the BIG Adventure Center's climbing wall.

His website: (www.maineartscamp.com) also lists about a half dozen area lodging places. "We'll have parents coming in and dropping off kids," he said.

The sessions will take place in June and July. Each session costs $2,250.

Mades has been in the summer camping business for 27 years. He spent a total of 16 summers at three camps in Maine.

For the past decade, he has operated Camp Finders, a service that matches kids to the

Seats at the table for more hungry seniors

Meals served with healthy helpings of good company

Because of dwindling participation, the Seniors Plus meals program at the Bethel Methodist Church has been cut back from two days a week to one. The move has prompted organizers and volunteers to try to attract more participants.

There are currently about eight senior citizens who come for the now-weekly lunch, which is prepared at SAD44 cafeterias and transported to the church. Participants are charged $2.50 per meal. One senior has a meal delivered to her home.

"At one point we had about 20 people in the program," said Brenda Wodka, the temporary manager of the Bethel site.

But the participation has been declining in recent years, Wodka said, in large part because transportation is a problem.

Many seniors used to ride the Western Maine Transportation bus from the Gilead and West Bethel areas, she said. But that service was discontinued several years ago.

The meals program has been offered in one form or another for at least 20 years, Wodka said.

Rebecca Ricker, who lives at the nearby Bethel House, has been eating at the meal site for about nine years. "I enjoy the meals," she said. "You can't go wrong for $2.50. And I've

Author describes origins and history of famed 10th Mountain Division

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Sixty years ago, from Feb. 18 to Feb. 25, 1945 the 10th Mountain Division of the U.S. Army fought its most famous battle.

Under cover of darkness and fog, 750 soldiers, in four parties, scaled the 1,700-foot heights of the Riva Ridge in the Italian Apennine Mountains, and rolled up a previously unreachable German observation post.

Prior to the climb, Army authorities predicted an 80 percent casualty rate for the operation. But when it was over, not a single man was injured — a testimony to the training, discipline and mountain skills of the men involved.

From there the Division went on to drive Germans out of their stronghold on nearby Mount Belvedere.

The U. S. War Department and Army were initially cool to the idea of a mountain division, but in 1943, well into the war, the go-ahead was given.

As word of the Division spread, Jenkins said: "Suddenly the most famous skiers and mountaineers in the whole world were showing up to join the Division."

Most of the skiers came from New England. Others joined up from various ski Sunday, well over 100 people, including three veterans of the Division, gathered in Gould Academy's Bingham Hall to hear Prof. McKay Jenkins of the University of Delaware describe the unique genesis and proud history of the Division.

Jenkins is the author of "The Last Ridge: The Epic

The Division, he said, "had its genesis in New England, particularly the ski resorts of New England."

It was initially envisioned as a force to counter any attempt to invade the United States by coming down the Champlain Valley.

Talks hold out hope for reopening snomo trails that straddle state line

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The outcome of an ongoing series of meetings between Maine and New Hampshire officials will probably determine if local snowmobilers will once again have access to some popular cross-border runs.

Until three years ago, snowmobilers from both states could travel trails in either state without registering their sleds in the other state. The agreement ended in part because Maine believed increasing numbers of New Hampshire riders were using Maine trails without paying to help maintain them.

As a result many snowmobilers are avoiding riding once popular runs in the other state.

For Maine snowmobilers, registering a sled in New Hampshire will cost (once the mandatory club membership in the Granite State is included) approximately $100, according to Robert Lowell.

For the past three years riders have had to pay to register in both states if they wanted the freedom of crossing the line.

trailmaster of the Bethel SnowTwisters.

Most local snowmobilers have opted not to pay that much for the privilege of riding in New Hampshire, Lowell said, and as a result they are staying off some once well-traveled trails.

For example, he said, in the past one popular loop was from Bethel to Songo and Crocker ponds, Evergreen Valley, Deer Hill, Route 113, Gilead, then back to Bethel.

The route is 70 miles long, with only 2 miles in New Hampshire, Lowell said, but those 2 miles — and the thought of the hefty fine that can be levied for being caught on them without a New Hampshire registration — are keeping most local riders out of the loop.

Lowell said that in the past the park-and-ride lot at Evergreen Valley was usually full

BAD TIME FOR SNOW REMOVAL

To the Editor:

As a citizen and contractor living in Bethel, I would like to voice my concern about the business of snow removal on the town streets.

While I was waiting (in my dump truck) to be loaded with snow, I observed the following: other dump trucks meeting school buses on corners and turns, kids going to the bus stop or walking to school climbing over the snow windrows as the town snowblower was making its way up/down the street, people driving on the wrong side of the windrow and meeting oncoming traffic and having to try to cross the snowbank to avoid an accident, without getting stuck. This is a serious safety issue for all people that are out and about from 6 a.m. until 9 to 10 a.m. People are trying to get to work, delivery trucks are en route. There is a fair amount of traffic and activity going on at these hours in our little community.

I believe the Town Road Foreman, his crew, and private contractors (along with myself included) would think it would make much more sense to do this work in "off" hours and keep our citizens safe. Monday, Feb. 14, was just an accident waiting to happen.

Please voice your concerns to your town selectmen.

Jack Cross

ONLINE CULTURAL SURVEY

To the Editor:

The Citizens Community Conference, scheduled for April 23, was inspired by the Blaine House Conference on the Creative Economy held in May 2003. Breakout sessions at the statewide conference, held in Lewiston, addressed various aspects of this complex subject from the most esoteric to basic, economic number crunching.

Local conference organizers, in SAD44, will use culturally related interviews, before their own conference, as a way to sort through all of this. Our goal is to identify the most relevant concerns of area residents and how they relate to the Creative Economy.

We've been developing survey tools which we feel will help us understand what people find most unique and valuable about their community. This critical feedback can help us identify our own cultural resources and how we can make them work for us.

The local conference will be interviewing people in the towns of SAD44: Albany, Andover, Bethel, Gilead, Greenwood, Hanover, Mason, Milton, Newry, Upton and Woodstock.

Latest research shows nonprofit cultural organizations account for over 78,000 jobs and $5.4 billion in annual revenue in New England.

In order to make these numbers more precise, and consequently, more potent in cultural advocacy, the Maine Arts Commission is urging local cultural groups to participate in an online survey.

If you belong to a cultural group and would like to participate, visit www.newenglandarts.org and click on the "annual survey" link before Feb. 28.

The New England Foundation for the Arts (NEFA) is giving all respondents access to a comprehensive online media contact tool for reaching newspaper, television, periodical, and radio outlets across New England. If you have questions, you can contact NEFA at (617) 951-0010 or e-mail: survey@nefa.org.

For questions about the SAD44 Community Conference, contact me at 665-2111.

SUMMER SOLTICE PLANNING

To the Editor:

If you have ideas for the annual Summer Solstice Celebration in June and want to contribute to making this day full of fun and creative activities for families, artists, adults and children of all ages, we need you.

Please join in the planning of this year's Midsummer Festival and Sculpture Race by attending the most important and only organizational meeting to be held on Wednesday, March 2, at 6:30 p.m. in the upstairs meeting room of the Bethel Public Library.

This will be an opportunity to meet with others who want to share their talents and ideas, to make suggestions, and to sign up for a specific task. By planning ahead, everyone can enjoy the day's events and participate in bringing together the creative community spirit(s) found in the mountains of western Maine.

This year, the day of Bethel's fourth Midsummer Festival will again be on Sunday, June 19, Fathers' Day, due to DOT construction activity on Route 2 west of Bethel village. Mark your calendar now.

If you cannot attend the March 2 planning meeting, but want to volunteer to help, please call Conni St. Pierre at 824-3246 or Sally Taylor at 824-3170.

PROTECT EDUCATION AND NECESSARY PROGRAMS

To the Editor:

Of the 150 cuts that President Bush has proposed to cut, 48 of them are in education. He is asking for a 66 percent reduction in funds to Adult Education and Family Literacy programs alone. Has he done his homework? It is a mystery why he would undermine his own No Child Left Behind in this way.

Family literacy teachers across the country help families understand that parents are the most important teachers in their children's lives and teach parents what they have to do to support their children's success.

The Barbara Bush's Foundation of Family Literacy is devoted to this philosophy and has helped many families in Oxford County and throughout the state of Maine. Adult learners are powerful role models for their children and play a critical role in the success of NCLB.

Across the country, the collaboration between adult education and family literacy has a great track record. Parents are:

- Reading more to their children.
- Establishing educational, parenting, and career goals that many go on to fulfill.
- Registering to vote.
- Obtaining driver's licenses.
- Becoming more involved in libraries, parenting workshops and schools.

We need an increase in funding for these programs not a cut.

As far as Adult Education, there are communities throughout the country that will not even be able to survive these cuts. I hope you'll contact Sens. Snowe and Collins as well as Reps. Michaud and Allen to protect these and many of the other 101 programs he has proposed to cut, such as:

- Fuel assistance
- Environmental protection
- Adult Day Care Centers
- National Child Nutrition combating hunger in US
- Veterans benefits
- Brain Trauma Injury Research
- Trimming food stamps
- Transportation and many more....

The president has said that all these programs will have to prove their worth. Please investigate his budget and speak up. He has given us all a lot of homework.

DAFFODIL DAYS ARE COMING

To the Editor:

As community executive for income development for the Rumford/Bethel area, I would like to encourage local residents to lend their support by either volunteering during Daffodil Days, the week of March 21, or by purchasing bouquets.

Chances are we all know someone who has been affected by cancer. Approximately 1.4 million people this year will be diagnosed in this country; including more than 7,700 right here in the state of Maine. We may even have been diagnosed ourselves. In the U.S. one out of every four deaths is from cancer.

The annual Rumford/Bethel area's Daffodil Days campaign will help to raise awareness and to support American Cancer Society research as well as local educational programs and support services. These include: Look Good, Feel Better, a program that teaches women how to deal with the physical effects of chemotherapy and radiation treatments; Reach to Recovery and Man to Man, two separate peer support programs that pair recently diagnosed breast and prostate cancer patients with survivors of the same cancers; and Road to Recovery, a service that gives patients rides to and from life-saving treatments. Donations also help to maintain the American Cancer Society's toll-free, 24-hour cancer information line, (800) ACS-234, and its website, www.cancer.org.

Bouquets of ten daffodils are available for a small donation of $7; Gifts of Hope, bouquets in vases delivered anonymously to cancer patients at hospitals or nursing homes, $20. Orders should be placed before March 11. To volunteer to help with Daffodil Days, folks may call the local American Cancer Society at (800) 464-3102, press 3. Let's strive together to give an expression of hope and to eliminate cancer as a major health threat.

Ray Kautzman
Community Executive for Development, American Cancer Society

EXPLORE THE WINTER LANDSCAPE

To the Editor:

Western Mountains Senior College members are invited to explore the winter landscape on a snowshoe walk with Dr. Rick Churchill. Join this well-respected and entertaining naturalist from 1 to 3 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 27, at the Sunday River Inn and Cross-Country Center. Snowshoes can be rented for $5 at the center, or bring your own.

This event is free to members of WMSC. To register or for information on becoming a member, call me at 824-0508.

WATERFORD P.T.O. THANKS

To the Editor:

As we approach the 100th day of school, the Waterford Memorial School Parent Teacher Organization would like to take the time to thank all of our volunteers and our staff for doing such an amazing job. The students have grown and learned many new skills this first half of the school year. We appreciate the contributions of our community members, and our New Balance volunteers, who week after week come in and assist our students in the education process.

We have also had an incredible show of support from area businesses including: Wal-Mart, McDonald's, Creaser Jewelers, Hannaford's, Burger King, Bridgton Subway, Bridgton Ice Arena, Springer's General Store, The Crooked River Diner & Variety, Melby's, The Bethel Citizen, and Pooh Corner Farm. These businesses have all helped by generously donating items for various fundraising events.

Looking ahead to spring, our PTO will continue to support our children by sponsoring a fundraising dance at the Harrison VFW Hall on March 26. This dance will feature the music of the Suspects. It is open to adults over 21; if you are interested in tickets please call me at 583-2553. Also upcoming on May 20, will be a spaghetti dinner and Reader's Theater event.

Again, many thanks to all who contribute toward the education of our young people, either by volunteering in the school, clipping box tops and soup labels, or by supporting our other fundraising efforts.

Samantha Murch
President, Waterford Memorial School Parent Teacher Organization

M.D.A. FUNDRAISER THANKS

To the Editor:

On Feb. 13 the snowmobile trails in and around the Oxford Hills area were hummin' with over 75 snowmachines and they all ended up at Telstar Regional High School for a great lunch and to register to win a new 2005 Arctic Cat.

Snowmobile clubs participating were Mechanic Falls Bog Hooters, Windham Drifters, Molyockett Sportsman Club, Harrison Friendly Riders, Norway Snow Hoppers and the Waterford SnoPackers.

We had over 100 people join us at the high school for lunch and through their efforts and those of our wonderful trail sponsors raised $13,200 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Special thanks need to go to Colby's Arctic Cat, Telstar Regional High School and Citgo for the part they played in this very successful event. Also, to all of the C. N. Brown employees that volunteered their time to help put on this event, before, day of and afterward. There is a lot of preparation for this annual event. It would be impossible to list everyone involved, but do know that if you were a volunteer or participant your efforts are appreciated.

Young mom saves baby, self RUMFORD — A 19-year-old mother suffered neck and shoulder injuries, as well as hypothermia, Tuesday evening, when the car she was driving slid off the South Rumford Road and into a nearby brook. The car quickly submerged, but Susan Jamison was able to open a passenger side window and free herself and her baby from the vehicle. She placed the baby on an embankment and pulled herself from the river. She was spotted by a passerby, who called 911. Jamison was treated at Rumford Community Hospital; the baby was taken home by its father.

Snowshoe hike to ledges

WOODSTOCK — The Bucks and Laphams Ledges Committee will sponsor a snowshoe hike up to the vicinity of Laphams Ledge on Saturday, March 5 for those interested in learning more about the efforts to preserve this area for public use. The hike will be preceded by coffee and a short update on the project at the home of Bob and Hildegard Armstrong on the Gore Road at 9:30 a.m. Following the meeting the group will carpool to the Rocky Road/Route 26 intersection to start the hike. An alternative activity of cross-country skiing on North Pond will also be held. The snowshoe hike is fairly strenuous and will be led by Marcel Polak who can provide information to those wishing to take part. In case of inclement weather, the coffee and update will be held and the hike postponed. Anyone interested in participating in the coffee, the hike or skiing activities, or who would like more information about the Ledges project may contact Cathy Newell at ledges05@yahoo.com or visit the Ledges group at Yahoo.com.

Moontide indictment

RUMFORD — An Oxford County grand jury has indicted the Matthew J. Plante, 45, of Rumford with stealing $5,000 from the Moontide Water Festival. Plante is the former president of the public, nonprofit organization, which raised money for Rumford's popular Fourth of July carnival and fireworks celebration. According to a Rumford Police Department investigator, Plante is accused of embezzling between $5,000 and $6,000 from the organization. Plante resigned from his position in October of 2004 after it was discovered the organization owed creditors more than $13,000. A criminal investigation was launched the following month.

Indicted on felony sex, gun charges

PARIS — Shawn Wilson, 33, of 277 Bethel Road in West Paris has been indicted by an Oxford County grand jury for felony sex and gun charges. According to the indictment Wilson forced sexual contact, including penetration, upon a woman who had not acquiesced. Wilson, who had been convicted of burglary and theft in 1991, was also indicted for ownership of a gun by a prohibited person.

New cell tower discussed

WATERFORD — In an effort to improve cell-phone service in the town, selectmen here are considering approaching a service provider about the possibility of putting a tower in the rear of the Town Office. It is uncertain at this time whether a service provider would be interested in such an arrangement.

Second look at secession

KILLINGTON, VT. — Only a year after generating a flurry of publicity for voting to secede and join New Hampshire, residents of this ski town are being asked to decide on Town Meeting day whether to rethink the idea. It's been a year, so it seemed like a good time to update people about where we stand and to bring the issue up again in a substantive way," Town Manager David Lewis said. "It seemed appropriate to tie it in with a vote at Town Meeting to give the voters the ability to say, 'We don't want to go any further.'" Although Lewis and the board want to be responsive to voters, they don't have much fear that their efforts to date will be overturned. "The board supports continuing, and they feel that it's been generally positive both inside Vermont and outside," he said. "We fully expect the voters will not tell us to discontinue, but it is something the voters can do." Otto Iannantuoni, an innkeeper in town who has marshaled opposition to secession, hopes that this Town Meeting will mark the end of Killington's quest. To secede, Killington would have to get approval from both state legislatures and Congress, which is highly unlikely. "Hopefully we can put this to rest," Iannantuoni said. "It's important, really, to stop what I feel is a bunch of foolishness and get on the right track."

Low-impact forestry day

SUMNER — The Women and the Woods Program will hold a Low Impact Forestry Demonstration Day on Saturday, March 5, at A Wrinkle in Thymes Farm in Sumner. It will include an introductory discussion about low impact forestry and outdoor, hands-on activities on horse logging, low impact harvesting technologies, chainsaw use and safety and maple sugaring. Women will meet with forestry professionals and with others who are managing woodland. Participants can choose the activities they want to be involved in and should come prepared to walk and work in the woods. Lunch will be provided. More information and registration forms are available from Laura Sebastianelli at 789-5808 or e-mail lauras@um-ext.maine.edu

PERC program offered again

BETHEL — A program that helps parents of adolescents, Parent Effectiveness in Resolving Conflict with your teen (PERC) is again being offered in Bethel beginning March 2 and running six consecutive Wednesdays. The parenting program, which provides parents with useful information about the nature of adolescence, also offers specific tools parents can put to use immediately to improve their relationships with their teens. In addition, parents have the opportunity to share their concerns and hopes with other caring parents. PERC is a statewide program provided by the Julie Foundation in conjunction with Youth Alternatives and local school districts. The course is facilitated by Wayne DuPlessis, a local psychotherapist who has been with the program since its inception in 1995. Space is limited, so call Adult Ed @ 824-2780 to register. Registration fee is $10 and includes $35 worth of reference books.

WEEKLY Specials

From the Bethel Police Log:

Monday, Feb. 21

At 2:30 p.m. Officer Phil Taylor responded to a two-vehicle PD accident one-half mile south of the intersection of Vernon and Main streets.

At 1:52 p.m. Chief Alan Carr was dispatched to the scene of an accident between an oil truck and a car on Walkers Mills Road.

Sunday, Feb. 20

At 3 a.m. Sgt. Shayne White was dispatched to condominiums on the Sunday River Road for report of a simple assault. The complainants were highly intoxicated, and after interviews with all parties who might have possibly been involved it was determined the accusation appeared to be unfounded. The complainants were advised to file a complaint the following day, when they were sober.

Friday, Feb. 18

At 11 p.m. Sgt. Shayne White and Officer Ovide Richard responded to a dispatch call regarding a possible kidnapping from New Hampshire. The vehicle involved was located and stopped on the North Road in Gilead. The Oxford County Sheriff's Department was informed and the suspects interviewed. No arrests were made.

At 7:35 p.m. Sgt. Shayne White assisted Bethel Rescue with a 22-year-old female actively seizing at the Sunday River Brew Pub. The woman was transported to Rumford Hospital.

At 9:30 a.m. Chief Alan Carr was asked to contact a Songo Pond Road resident regarding the alleged theft of two snowblowers, which she said had been loaned to her daughter in Demark, who refused to return them. It was explained that this was a civil matter. A state trooper was contacted, and agreed to speak with the daughter.

Thursday, Feb. 17

At 4:50 p.m. Sgt. Shayne White assisted an Oxford County Deputy at a traffic stop on the Gore Road involving a subject who is currently on probation. A vehicle search turned up narcotics. BPD cleared the scene without incident.

At 7:35 p.m. Sgt. Shayne White was dispatched to the area of Elm Street for a report of several juveniles possibly "messing with" a vehicle. The report was determined to be unfounded.

Wednesday, Feb. 16

At 9:21 p.m. Sgt. Shayne White and Officer Travis Fillmore arrested Richard G. Hutchins II, 18, for operating after suspension and a warrant for failure to appear on an OUI.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summon in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

Meals

SOUP FOR SENIORS—A group of Bethel youngsters is doing its part to see that area seniors get a good meal. The Mystery 4H Club has begun helping out with a long-time soup program offered by Cathi DiCocco of Café DiCocoa. Once a month, DiCocco prepares a soup meal to deliver to senior citizens. Here, Nick Stuer, Trent Bonney and Ellie Cramton work dough to make into bread.

always had a good time down there. I miss having the meals on Thursday."

Regional participation in the program has also been declining in recent years, according to Vivian Howe, the Seniors Plus community service program manager in Wilton.

"It's not just in Bethel," she said. "Seniors now have more choices. They do more things these days. Twenty or 25 years ago, there was more of a socialization need [filled by the meals program]."

Wodka said socialization is still an important part of the Bethel program. Meals are served at 11:30 a.m., but, she said, "they come early to visit with one another."

She said Seniors Plus may try out some organized activities for the group before the meal to encourage more participation.

In addition, she said, Seniors Plus "will see what they can do to help seniors unable to get here because of transportation."

Ricker would like to have more company, she said. "I'd like to see a lot more people come. I'd enjoy it even more."

Anyone interested in learning more about the program may contact Wodka at 824-3594.

right summer camp for them. He is originally from Maine, but is now based in Florida.

About a year ago, Mades researched possible sites in New England for the new camp.

Bethel offered the right combination of school campus facilities and nearby resources, he said.

"It's a neat little town. I really loved it," he said.

Mades said he already has heard from families in Ohio,

New Jersey and Florida who are interested in having their children attend.

And, he said, "We've had parents keep asking, 'Can we go?'"

The question has prompted him to plan a family session at the camp during its second season.

Family camps are rare, he said, "especially on a school campus. It's more attractive with the dorms, because there's more privacy and comfort."

Dutch Dresser, Gould's associate head of school, said the school looks forward to hosting the camp.

"Gould is very pleased to have its excellent facilities used in support of a program focusing on young campers and the arts," he said.

Robin Zinchuk, executive director of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, also said she is happy to see the camp come to town.

"Not only does it offer an additional option for local families, but it is bound to attract new visitors, parents and families to the Bethel area," she said.

"The director is actively seeking business partnerships throughout the community, which is very strategic. This new venture will benefit many."

There will be an open house for the camp on March 6 from 1 to 3 p.m. at Gould.

Trails

(15 to 20 vehicles) when the riding was good, but on one recent weekend day with good snow conditions there was only one truck in the lot.

The lack of registration reciprocity is also hamstringing

New Hampshire riders.

Without access to trails in Maine, they have no practical way along the eastern side of the White Mountains, according to Bob Meyers, executive director of the Maine Snowmobile Association.

That in effect also closes off the popular Conway/Chatham to Gorham route, he said.

Talks Representatives from the two states have met twice to see if the situation could be resolved.

So far it has not been, but Roland "Danny" Martin, commissioner of the Maine Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Department, and Sean O'Kane, commissioner of Resources and Economic Development for New Hampshire have agreed to meet again for another try.

They are expected to focus on a possible agreement to establish reciprocity on 17 miles of trails in the Evans Notch and Parsonsfield areas.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Janna Victoria Botka, gift from God daughter of Kate and Eric Botka, received blessings from the congregation of the Methodist Church on Sunday.

A reunion of the Stevens family and Botka family was present at church.

A luncheon was served following the church service.

Kate is the daughter of Alice and Alvin Stevens.

Saturday, Feb. 26, 10 a.m. at The Bethel Inn, the Red Hatters will meet and cross-country ski with Lorrie Hoeh then join other Red Hat ladies for lunch at 12 noon on the new terrace at the inn.

It's fun to watch skiers come and go. E-mail or call Ginny Gamble to make your reservation.

Mary and Chuck Millard were at their Chapman Street home over the weekend and enjoyed skiing at Sunday River.

"Women and Heart Disease, You've come a Long Way Baby," will be held at the Ripley Medical Building at Norway on Feb. 25 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. David J. Kumaki, MD, will be the evening's presenter.

Ernest and Alberta Angevine, Avery Angevine, Doris Fraser, and Musa Brown attended a family gathering at John Angevine's in Colebrook, N.H., on Sunday.

Sandra Gunther was at Maine Medical Center, Portland, this last week and had a stent inserted.

Millie Jackson suffered a stroke on Thursday and is now home and recovering very well.

The Norway Bridge Club met Friday, Feb. 18, at the Fare Share Commons, where a Howell movement was played.

Finishing first in flight "A" were Martine Begert and David Lock; second, Mimi Bell and Bill Bowman; third, Nancy Farmer and Marta Clements.

Winning in flight "B" were Nancy Farmer and Marta Clements; second, Dolan and Beverly Pelletier.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh
All the snow that didn't fall in January seems to be making up for lost time in February. I'm not complaining, mind you, except when we have had to clear the end of the driveway for the third time in one day. The snow in the woods is beautiful, and the ski trails are in good shape for winter fun. This is especially important during this vacation week when so many visitors will be in the area, partaking of winter sports, and of course eating in local restaurants and patronizing local businesses.

When snow is followed by a thaw or rain, and then again by a deep freeze, guess what? — get ice! The road down in the National Forest is impossible for walking right now, and Jake and I have had to walk north on the Flat Road, where there is more auto traffic than we're accustomed to. Jake is usually very good, though, and he sits at the side of the road when a vehicle passes.

I don't know if it's the snow or their sense of approaching spring, but the turkeys have seemed especially active here of late. Almost every time we drive over the Grover Hill Road, we see groups of them strutting about. At our feeder, we see the usual suspects, mostly goldfinches. However, we have at least two pairs of hairy woodpeckers, and two pairs of downy woodpeckers, as well as two titmice and both red- and white-breasted nuthatches, as regular visitors. The red squirrel population has expanded to seven, from zero last fall. One of these days I'd like to try a recipe for squirrel fricassee. (Just kidding!)

Last weekend in Portland at the Doubletree Hotel I attended the third annual Knit, Spin, and Spa weekend for knitters and spinners. No classes, no schedules, no demands, just sit around and spin or knit and enjoy each other's company. There was a roomful of vendors with yarn, fiber, books, and tools for sale, all very tempting. Despite my best intentions I bought another batch of wool to spin, because the color was irresistible.

There were also door prize drawings three times a day, so many of us came away with unexpected "gifties." Gayle Wigley of the Bog Road came down for the day on Saturday and schmoozed and spun with us.

To those of you with school-age children, we hope you enjoy the vacation week and have a chance to get out and play in the snow with them. Remember, if winter comes, can spring be far behind?

I could really use some news from you readers. If you or your children, friends, or neighbors have anything to share, please call me at 836-3011, or e-mail to dhoeh@megalink.net.

Gilead

The town officers are busy getting ready for Town Meeting at the end of March.

The budget for next year needs to be fine-tuned. Reports for the annual Town Report from officers and organizations need to be finished and turned in.

Steve and Lise McLain received an e-mail with a picture from their son, Capt. Stephen McLain, Iraq. Stephen is standing out in front of the Al-Faw Palace. He also called his parents this weekend. Receiving an e-mail is great, but there is nothing like a phone call from someone you care about.

Carole Chapman recently completed her CNA training through Region 9 in Rumford. Her sisters, Karen Olen and Debbie McManus, attended the celebration along with Carole's dad, Linwood Cox. We are all very proud of her accomplishment.

Gilead Historical Society The Gilead Historical Society received an invitation from the Bethel Historical Society to attend the 31st annual Bethel Historical Society Heritage Day on Saturday, Feb. 26, from 1 to 4 p.m. There will be local craftspeople, a representative from the Oxford County Bicentennial Committee and members of the Newry Bicentennial Committee present. This will be a great time to find out more information about the upcoming Oxford County

Bicentennial and the Newry Bicentennial. The GHS will be present with a table with more information about our newly formed society, and we will have copies for sale of the two books that were published for the 2004 Bicentennial. Any GHS members who are able to attend that day should meet there.

The Planning Board

The Planning Board met on Feb. 15 at the Town Office. A Fire Protection Ordinance, being drafted by the Fire Department, was presented. Comments from attendees are being incorporated and a draft prepared for further review. Work continues on new and revised ordinances, which will be presented to the town this spring for approval. The next Planning Board meeting is scheduled for March 3 and will be held at the Town Office beginning at 7 p.m. An agenda for the meeting is posted at the Town Hall, Town Office and transfer station. Also posted at these locations is the schedule for the 2005 regular meetings.

Andover

by Melinda Averill
Congratulations to Brock and Jane Clukey on the birth of their daughter, Emma Grace. She was born on Tuesday, Feb. 15.

Twelve members of the East Andover Community Club met with Kathleen Thew on Valentine's Day for the annual meeting. Reports from 2004 were read by Lorena Simmons and Violet Swain. Many special cards had been sent out to community members. Thank-you notes were read from the two local Sunday Schools for money given for bibles. A plant had been given to Mary Bailey in memory of her brother, Chester Gammon. A sunshine box will be patched for Glenna Allen.

They voted to give $150 to an Andover Telstar senior at the Alumni Banquet.

Marge Towne won the door prize. Mystery sisters exchanged gifts. A social afternoon was enjoyed. Dessert was served by the hostess.

The March 14 meeting will be held at the home of Mary Bailey.

Other members attending were Barbara Meisner, Philena Chaisson, Vicki Cuff, Marge Stinson, Donna Joy Gagne, Betrice Schneider, and Betty Moore.

Get well wishes to Dolly Jones who underwent surgery at the Maine Medical Center, Portland, in February.

Violet and Rodney Swain were in Waterville on Feb. 19 to attend an 80th birthday for her cousin, Kyvele St. Peter.

Jason Learned, of Tukwila, Wash., grandson of Russell and Donna Learned of Gig Harbor, Wash., is training to ride on June 5 in a 100-mile bicycle event to benefit the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. The Learned's have many relatives in Andover.

Robert Swain, Lexington, Ky., spent a week in East Andover with his parents recently. His brother, Rodney, Jericho, Vt., arrived on Feb. 18 for a visit also.

Bob Wheadon of North Andover was home for a visit last weekend. He left on Saturday to go back to New Hampshire with his son and family.

The Andover Eagles basketball team will have their last ball game of the season at Crescent Park School on Monday, Feb. 28. Game time is 3:45.

The Mexico Lions Club annual Fishing Derby is Saturday at Roxbury Pond, 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Hopefully, the weather will be nice so all the kids can get out and enjoy it.

Don and Nancy Wardwell have moved into their new home on the Roxbury Pond Road (or as some say, the east side).

Happy Birthday this week to Eda Perkins. A special Happy Big 40 to one of my school classmates — Stephanie. That's all for this week, see ya.

Greenwood City

by Rena Curtis
Another week has gone. It has been a hard one. I got word my oldest niece, Ada Sears Cogswell, was taken worse with her sickness, which was cancer and she finally passed on. She lived with my husband and me and went to our Greenwood City School for a few years. Albert Curtis Sr. and Marie and I went to the viewing last Tuesday night. As we could not be there Wednesday we went down and picked up my son-in-law, Stephen Cogswell; he was a brother-in-law as well as a cousin by marriage. So, he went with us.

We sure are getting a lot of snow lately. Albert Curtis Sr. has been busy plowing us out. We are running out of places to put the snow. When Albert Sr. left for work one night a fox came out of a driveway by the little bridge on our road and went down toward Leonas Holt's and went out of the road.

Talked with my son, Ken, in Kentucky and said it was raining there last Sunday.

Albert Curtis Sr. and Marie went up to the Cinnamon Stick Cafe located at the upper part of Greenwood for breakfast this past Sunday morning.

Ann Holt made a Valentine dinner for her father and mother, Leonas and Fay Holt. David and Sally Holt of Norway joined them.

Brad Payne and Fran Picarello have been busy getting the snow removed from all their places.

Ann Holt was sick last Monday so she did not work.

Quote of the Week: "A slip of the foot you can soon recover but, a slip of the tongue you may never get over."

That is it for this week. It sure has been raining hard but will help take off the snow. Have a good week. Stay well.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham
And then it snowed; and snowed; and snowed. It feels like it has been snowing for a week. This last storm only left about 8 to 10 inches, but it snowed so long it felt like we would have several feet. In fact, as I write this (on Tuesday a.m.) it is still spitting snow. Unfortunately, under the snow is solid ice. David found that out yesterday.

I engage in what I am calling the Waterford Shuffle. I walk very slowly, not lifting one foot until the other is safely secure on the ground. It may take me longer to get where I am going, but so far it works. That is good enough for me. Tasha runs around slipping and sliding. Her little feet go in all directions. She has almost been hit several times and actually collided with Dawn's car the other day. She was unhurt. The car never knew what hit it.

With the promise of more snow on the way and a return to winter cold, we are all buttoning up. We decided this past weekend, that, with the wind chill, it was the coldest it has been all winter. We had near hurricane force winds at the transfer station. They blew right through us. Even though it was about 10 above, it felt like 20 below or colder. That is why we have been in the shack a lot. Brrr!

Since our spare worker has quit, we are now looking, again, for a fill-in person. It is only as needed to cover sick days and vacations. Anyone interested should apply at the town office. If you applied before, please ask to have your application re-activated. Be aware that it is a cold-weather job and requires a lot of time out-of-doors, regardless how cold it is. It also requires good people skills and the ability and willingness to work with others.

Waterford Town Meeting is right around the corner. It is the first Saturday in March, March 5. Be there if you are a Waterford resident. It is an important meeting.

Thursday, the 24th, Mountain Poets will meet at 7 p.m. at Fare Share Commons. All are welcome. Bring your favorite poems that you or someone else has written. We'd love to see you.

That is all for this week. Drive carefully, stay warm and watch out for that black ice.

The March Senior Citizens meeting for Woodstock and Green-wood will be held at Ledgeview Memorial Home. Meeting will be March 3 at 11:30 a.m. with dinner and program by Anita Wilder speaking on "Changes in Benefits."

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School and Adult Bible Fellowship at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., choir practice at 5 p.m., evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m. is Prayer meeting, Thursday morning is Ladies Bible time at 9 a.m.

Judith Grover Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met at the home of Alice Hoyt on Monday, Feb. 14, with eight members present.

Elizabeth Hoover installed Michelle Cary as guard and council member 3 and Althea J. Cary as color bearer 1.

Seventeen calls were made. Elizabeth Hoover received the mystery package.

Next meeting will be on March 14 with Beth and Marybeth on refreshments, discussion of Memorial Day Parade, having a table at Grange Fair and ordering of flags.

Reported Valentines were signed and given to the patients at Ledgeview Memorial Home.

At the February Historical Society meeting Town Manager Vern Maxfield talked about developments in the town since he came in 1988.

He talked about having the houses numbered, taking down old buildings, constructing the sand shed and fire station, ball fields and town beach.

Also, the library expansion, the growth in value to $115 million from $33 million, closing of the mill, subdivisions, etc.

He also noted there are more nonresidents than residents in town now and the population is 1,310.

Everything in the Town Office is pretty much computerized.

Olive Risko also reported on plans for the Oxford County Bicentennial.

The main celebration is at Paris Hill on June 11, and the Historical Society will send people to watch a table.

They have requested the County Bicentennial Quilt for the Town Meeting on March 28.

Members voted to pay for plowing at the museum.

The Historical Society Museum fosters our heritage.

It makes you aware of the past and enriches the present. Help preserve the area's treasures.

The museum has a fine collection.

Larry Billings is proud he has had much to do with it. He has worked hard to see the museum as one of the best.

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb
The cold weather is still with us and a big snowstorm is due with more cold added. The driveway is just getting passable. The walkway has finally been uncovered with the snow and ice mountain chopped away.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Feb. 27 at 9 a.m. the guest speaker will be Shirley Miller. Jim Burke is organist. A social coffee hour will follow.

Daughter Peggy and husband Mike Seaton drove over from Augusta to have lunch with her mother, Joyce Lamb. They brought a little of spring with them. A pot of mini daffodils and a hyacinth with a dark bud are now sitting on the bow windowsill. One cannot but believe that the white background will soon turn to green grass.

Spaghetti with homemade sauce and biscuits were enjoyed with a dessert of rhubarb pie. The pie needed to be eaten for in three months' time it will be rhubarb season again.

The weather has kept most people at home so there is little news. If it warms up some may get out next week to shop and visit.

Buffy is still enjoying the sun in front of the garage doors. The area is sheltered and the pavement is bare and a bit warm. He stretches out and sleeps there.

A bridal shower was held for Alicia Smith this past weekend at the Norway

Savings Bank Community Room. Alicia received many nice gifts. It was given by Jessie Hart and the other bridal party members. Alicia and Mike Taylor will marry in June. They are residents of South Woodstock. I wish them the best.

Todd Poland has been in Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway. Todd fell and broke his foot and also twisted his knee. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Receiving honors at Tel-star Middle School are Emma Davis, Camrin Poland and Kalinda Cox. Honors at Tel-star High School are Bailey Davis, William Demarest, Chea Davis, Jennie Cox and Krystal Hadley. Good work.

Richard does a good job cleaning up after the storms. He had to rake the roofs after this last big storm.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that at the February meeting Town Manager Vern Maxfield talked on the developments in Woodstock since he took office. He noted interestingly that a lot of people from out of state have bought property since 9/11. Vern came in 1988 and was town clerk in Waterford prior. Olive Risko reported on the County Bicentennial. Mr. and Mrs. Gil Whitman also attended.

Locke Mills

by Lorraine Larson
What a weird month of February we have had so far weather wise.

My bones have not been able to keep up with the changes and my arthritis moves from place to place several times a day, somewhat like Old MacDonald's Farm. "Here a pain, there a pain, everywhere a pain, pain." It certainly makes life interesting.

Debbie and Owen Brown traded in their station wagon for a sedan last Saturday and on Sunday after church they took me for a ride in it. We went to the Tin-Tin for lunch, explored the pet shop, visited a couple other stores and then went to visit Debbie's cousin, Gary Cotton and wife, and got to see their beautiful new home. On the way home we stopped and got some really good cheese and then took in a movie at the theater in Oxford and then on home. We had quite a busy day. I think they got a good car in their trade. It rides quietly, smoothly, and I can actually fasten the seat belt in the back seat without becoming a contortionist. That rates points with me.

It is nice to have a granddaughter-in-love to do things for you. Mandy had made me earrings and pillows and scarves and I am feeling quite blessed.

Garbo and company had been really encouraged by last week's warm weather. They thought they had finally found that door that leads to spring, but now it has gotten cold again and they are saying, "what happened?" They were sitting in the sun coming in through the windows when I got up one morning and thought that it would be warm outside, but they got sadly disappointed when I opened the door. It is really funny to see the reactions on their faces. Even a cat can get an expression of sheer disbelief.

There certainly have been many deaths this winter. My grandmother used to say that if one could "winter over" one usually could make it for another year. I do not know how true that is, but this winter has been hard on folks apparently. I have found it more depressing this year, but I figure losing so many animals has made it rough on me, especially losing Princess. Garbo does her best at taking over the roll of protector of the house and me, but it is not quite the same. I have been without my car for a while, too, so I do not get out as much as I did, not that I would have used it anyway, what with the weather being the way it has, but just the idea that it is there to use if you want to helps.

I am sure there is a lot of news out there, but I cannot seem to come up with any more. Of course, I am usually the last person to know. Here there was all that commotion with the plow truck practically in my backyard and the first I hear of it is when I read it in the paper.

I do know that Brent and Jessica Lake and baby Hunter are preparing to go to England for a tour of duty soon. It is a good thing there are fast planes these days and that Al and Crystal are OK with flying, because I cannot imagine what they would do if they could not see that grandbaby at least a couple times a year. I am already looking forward to getting reports of what it is like in England from someone who has been there.

I have an English pen pal, but I do not get to hear from her very often since we have joined the senior citizen group.

I do not do all that good at writing either, so I cannot complain.

Try to enjoy our return to column in next week.

Mason

by Richard Grover
Big sister, Verna Thayer, suffered an unfortunate accident last Saturday.

She slipped on the ice and struck the middle finger knuckle area on the back of her left hand. The middle finger and whole area on the back of her hand swelled up and turned an ugly purple color, making any movement of that hand quite painful. It gives one the impression that someone might have reacted to an obscene gesture by breaking the offending finger. I'm happy to report that that wasn't the case, and the hand seems to be returning to its proper size and color as of this writing.

I'm sure all my readers are by now aware of my superior powers of observation. Lately, I've noticed that the annual bane of Maine's secondary roads has returned — frost heaves! The Flat Road has its usual "spring-buster" dips and humps, and the Grover Hill Road has that elephant-size "continental shelf" just as you get to the Four Corners stop sign. But the thing that bothers me most is the drainage on our brand new section of US 2 between Bethel and West Bethel. It seems the state of Maine spent millions to build a showplace of a road, complete with neat asphalt curbs which have eliminated all roadside parking and access to businesses and the church in West Bethel. They built nicely banked curves atop Robinson Hill that channel the runoff from the melting snow banks straight across the travel lanes too, which freezes up nicely when the winter/spring sun settles below the western horizon. They even managed to arrange the guardrails at the brook crossing near Bethel Furniture Stock so that the melting snow banks there dam up the run-off, making daytime pools and nighttime skating rinks on the outside travel lanes. I hope these lessons are remembered when construction resumes on the Gilead-New Hampshire section, with all those sharp curves and shady areas on the north side of those ledges.

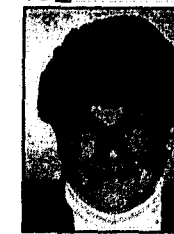

The nearly 30 inches of snow we got a couple weeks ago made for some good downhill and cross-country skiing for a few days. Then that rain last Tuesday or Wednesday iced everything up; my skis haven't been out of the barn since. I have had the ol' snowshoes out a couple times though. Gotta get exercise somehow, until the woodpiles thaw out and I can start splitting wood. The old wood-framed, woven mesh-covered snowshoes work good in the fresh, loose snow, but not so good when there is a crust atop the white stuff. Last Christmas I got Mona a new pair of those new aluminum-framed snowshoes, with those bear-trap aluminum treads under the foot treads and covered with that plastic-like composite material. Last Sunday, I convinced Mona to loan her new "shoes" to me for an hour or two. I tried them, and they're great. They stay atop our "not-so-hard" crust; they're light weight, and the aluminum foot "teeth" make for good up-and-down-hill traction on slippery or crusted snow.

Snowshoeing is great this time of year, because rain or the warm daytime sun (sometimes) softens the snow enough to leave a crust on the surface when it re-freezes. This makes it easy walking with snowshoes, which don't sink through the crust or compacted snow much.

Winter is marching on in its cold, blustery fashion. Sunday was very cold followed by snow on Monday.

The kids are home on February vacation and it couldn't be more ideal for them. The sleds are out and in use, the ski slopes are in ideal condition with fresh snow. The "Celestial Weatherman" has blessed us.

There is a small group of ice fishermen at the mouth of the river. Flags keep popping up so the fish are biting. The men look like they are enjoying themselves.

Last week, Simone Lavallee and Deborah Judkins, representing the Ladies Aid, presented me with a great "Sunshine Basket" filled with all sorts of goodies. Thank you friends.

Greetings to Jim Rector who is recovering from knee surgery, and doing well.

Two moose kills were reported on Route 26 in the past week. Don and Linda Hartrick narrowly missed colliding with one in Grafton Notch on Saturday. The big fellows are out on the highway early this year. It is probably the result of a lack of deep snow. There were quite a few large bull moose tracks at Stratton's on Birch Point. Kathy and Fred Stratton are spending a mid-winter vacation at Camp "Tree Top," cross-country skiing and generally enjoying the beauty of the area. Kathy is an art teacher in Ellsworth and is making the most of February vacation. Thank you, Fred and Kathy, for the lovely yellow roses.

Sally Lavallee also sent me a lovely red miniature rose that is thriving. There is something about the color in these flowers that say spring will get here. (In about a month.)

Sunday's guest was Arthur "Mike" Murphy. He came bearing gifts and some real good stories.

Recently, a group of men set out from Upton for several days on the snowmobile trails. Many miles were covered and the fantastic scenery of the North Country was enjoyed. Gene Wixom, Larry Nelson, Leon Hawkinson, Don and Fred Hartwick and a Florida guest, Richard Schular enjoyed the perfect weather, and the camp life was great. They plan to do it again next year. Who could blame them.

The weekly deer report is good. The herds on the topside of Route 26 are having a very good winter.

Jerry Kenny and Wilfred Lavalley have several healthy specimens visiting at their home. "Dawg," the golden retriever, barely opens his eyes when they visit.

Our dogs were like that with the deer. They knew their place. The deer also walk a few feet past "Flash" Kenney's nose at his dog house. Flash of course is tied up, but the deer do not know that.

The "down hill" herd has been moved deep into the forest. Once in awhile they are spotted on the snowmobile trail.

There are so many birds at the feeders, and they wait in line for a "Suet Feed." It must taste and smell like their favorite worm.

The dear little chickadee is the "Bird of the Week."

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke
A white, snowy, fluffy hello from Albany Township. How beautiful is our little corner of Oxford County with all this wonderful snow.

David's excited about it because that means sliding. (Dana's liking it for that reason, too.)

Thanks to Wyatt for keeping us plowed out this winter, and also a thank you to the Hatstat road crew for keeping the roads passable and safe for those of us on the roads in the mornings and evenings.

Well, the kids are off from school this week for February vacation.

Remember school days when we'd have vacations practically every month, plus the entire summer off? Every now and again, we find ourselves missing those days as well — no worries, sleep in late, just lounge around in front of the TV or sun outside. (Oh, there were a few chores in between nap time and lounge time.) Those were the days.

But, you know, really wouldn't change our "now" days for those "then" days. We have so much to be thankful for — wonderful children, great friends, a lovely home — well, it will be — and a great place to live. We feel blessed every day, even on the bad days.

Pastor Eddie Gammon stopped in last Saturday for a quick visit and to leave off the best bread Sheila has ever had. Thank you for the thoughtful gift. Oatmeal-molasses is her favorite bread now.

Church services are Sunday mornings starting at 9:30 a.m. The kids still are meeting for Youth Group on Friday afternoons.

Youth Group isn't a bunch of kids with nothing better to do sitting around reading the Bible — nope. It's a bunch of kids that know that there is nothing better to do than fellowshiping, giving and receiving Bible lessons (life lessons) and generally enjoying themselves in an adult-supervised fashion.

They have fun and learn at the same time. If you are interested in joining in, just give Holle and Fernand Coriveau a call.

From the

Newry Bicentennial Committee

Watch your Newry Town Report for a flyer on this summer's celebration plan. Also, included will be information on a Newry exhibit sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society.

Local crafters and artisans are welcome to sign up for table space for no fee for Saturday, July 9. Contact the Town Office to sign up. Space is limited.

Local groups/organizations who would like to have a fundraising booth or activity should also contact the Town Office to sign up.

If a Newry group or organization would like to sponsor an event in conjunction with events sponsored by the Town Celebration Committee, please contact the Town Office.

Suggestions for activities include a breakfast on Saturday morning, a supper on Saturday night or something your group thinks is appropriate.

The committee's resources are limited and help from local groups is welcome.

From the

Bethel Lions Club

Ed and Gert Friel attended the third Cabinet Meeting hosted by the Gray/New Gloucester Lions Club, on the 6th of February.

The Bethel Club presented a plaque of appreciation to PDG Art Grady of Mechanic Falls, for the many years of support and assistance to the Bethel club.

There was a cake and pie auction that brought in over $500. Lion Ed Friel won the 50/50 drawing (again.)

The memorial for Lion Howard Donahue was well attended by friends and family. The Bethel Lions Club members were also present to celebrate Howard's life.

The Bethel Lions Club covers the SAD44 area. For more information, please call Ed or Gert Friel at 824-2107.

We meet the second and third Tuesdays of the month at Cross Roads Dinner, at 6:30 p.m.

If you are in need of eye glasses, please call Eldon Greenleaf at 824-2040.

From the

Maine Conservation School

The Maine Conservation School, Bryant Pond, has received grant money for scholarships to our Junior Maine Woodsman/Woodswoman, Maine Woodsman/Woodswoman, and Junior Maine Guide programs for 2005.

A very generous donor, who wishes to remain anonymous, has agreed to pay one-half of the fees for these programs for young people from SAD1 (Presque Isle), SAD9 (Farmington), SAD27 (Fort Kent), Waldo and Knox counties and year-round island community school areas.

Funding is also available for the MCS Conservation Camp program through money raised by the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife's annual moose permit auction.

The MCS Summer Camp season runs from June 26 through August 26. Program lengths vary from one to four weeks. These scholarships are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

For almost 50 years, the Maine Conservation School's camp and school programs have introduced children and adults to a unique blend of outdoor fun, environmental education, and practical outdoor skills.

For more information: visit www.meconservationschool.org or contact mcsops@megalink.net or call 665-2068.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Everyone is welcome at the 31st annual Bethel Historical Society Heritage Day which will be held at the society's Regional History Center on Saturday, Feb. 26, from 1 to 4 p.m. Special tours of the Dr. Moses Mason House will be offered and hot Indian pudding will be served from the hearth of the winter kitchen. At the O'Neil Robinson House, there will be a gathering of craftspeople to demonstrate and exhibit traditional crafts.

There will also be historical videos, three exhibits, and the museum shop will be open as well. A representative from the Oxford County Bicentennial Committee has been invited to be present to provide further information on the forthcoming celebration. Members of the Newry Bicentennial Committee are also expected to be present with items for sale and information on the town's event later in the year. Other historical organizations and museums may also be present with displays and other materials from their entities.

Since 2005 will be among other things, a year of celebration of all things agricultural, the Bethel Historical Society is offering a course in Maine farming history from the 17th century to the present. The course, coordinated by Society Director Stanley R. Howe, who has written and lectured widely on agricultural history topics, will begin on March 17 with a presentation on Maine farming from 1600 to the Civil War. This class will focus on the origins of Maine agriculture with the Indians, colonial settlement, the rise of agricultural societies, and various experiments to achieve prosperity in working the land.

The next class will be held on March 31 and cover the years from 1860 to the present. Here the development on large-scale operations will be studied along with the effect of western competition on Maine operations. Also noted in this class will be rise and fall of corn canning, dairy, potatoes and seed operations. The role of the University of Maine, the formation of the Department of Agriculture, and the founding of the Cooperative Extension Service will also be discussed as well.

On April 14, the topic will be Maine farm diaries and buildings, particularly barns and other outbuildings and on April 28, farm organizations and the future of Maine farming will be the focus of the final class.

The course is open to anyone interested. Classes will be held at the society's O'Neil Robinson House at 7:30 p.m. The fee is $20 for non-members of the society and $15 for members. Those wishing to register for the course should call the society office 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910. On-line registration is also possible (see information below) and fees can be paid at the first class on March 17.

County's incorporation nears, it is important to reflect on the region's rich history. From Larry Glatz, the Oxford County Bicentennial Committee chairman, comes the following: "As far as the origin of the term 'Oxford Bear' is concerned, it seems that in the mid-1830s various Whig political editors from Boston and Portland, exasperated by the large and recurrent Jacksonian Democrat election victories generated by the voters in this predominantly agricultural area (Oxford County), declared that the 'huge paws' of the 'furrow-turners' were not suited to guide the ship of state and complained that the 'back-wood bears' of these 'benighted regions' were wreaking governmental havoc throughout the district. The citizens of the county quickly adopted these intended insults as badges of honor and used the terms to rally support for any initiative that pitted the honest farmer and mechanic against the so-called 'urban aristocracy.'

"By the early 1840s, the term 'Oxford Bear' outgrew its political origins and became a familiar, but still proud reference to any citizen of the county. It became common for letters to the local papers to be signed, 'A True Bear,' or 'With a Big Hug from an Oxford Bear.' In 1850, the town of Norway decided to name its fancy new fire engine, 'The Oxford Bear.' The very first large meeting of expatriate 'sons and daughters of Oxford' was held in Bangor in 1851, at which event a large stuffed 'Oxford Bear' graced one end of the banquet table, and the head of a 'Penobscot Moose' adorned the other. As recently as the 1940s, when a number of businesses from around the county published an 'Oxford Hills and Lakes Region' promotional brochure, the cover was graced with a circular logo occupied entirely by a large black bear.

"By 1935, however, with the demise of the Oxford Bear Fruit Growers' Association of Buckfield and Hebron, the loss of a congressional seat held by Donald Partridge of Norway, who campaigned as the 'Bear' from the Oxford region, the only Bear left in sight was the Oxford Bear Lodge of the Hanover Knights of Pythias, which is now also gone. But rumors have it that the Bear will rumble forth from hibernation in time for the celebration of the county's 200th birthday in 2005."

Do you need ideas for marketing farm products? Do you want to develop a successful farm logo, brochure or product label?

Join the Western Mountains Alliance, Coastal Enterprises, Inc. and the River Valley Growth Council for "Farm Marketing and Image Building" a free three-hour workshop for farmers and value added ag-producers on Wednesday, March 9, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the River Valley Technology Center, 60 Lowell Street in Rumford.

Come learn: basic marketing terms and concepts; the value of developing a business and marketing plan; the importance of planning and designing farm promotional materials; and exercises and tools to develop an effective farm image and related promotional materials.

Come share: your marketing challenges and questions, your existing promotional materials and ideas for new ones.

Reap the benefits of networking with other farmers as well as being introduced to resources and services that help farmers with business planning, marketing and promotional materials development.

Marketing and promotional materials planning is fundamental for direct sales farm businesses.

A well-planned marketing strategy along with a professional farm logo and related promotional materials help build and maintain a consistent and positive farm image, resulting in greater consumer loyalty and increased sales.

The workshop will be facilitated by Coastal Enterprises, Inc., Maine Farms Project employees Kerri Sands and Gabe McPhail.

Sands is a coordinator for the Farms for the Future program, which provides Maine farmers with business planning assistance and grants to make their farms more economically viable.

McPhail coordinates Image Building Concepts, a program that provides farms with graphic design, logo illustration and other promotional materials.

"Farm Marketing and Image Building" is offered free of charge. Pre-registration is required.

To register or receive further information, please contact the Western Mountains Alliance at 778-7274.

From the

White Mountain National Forest

While skiers everywhere appreciate the fresh snow, those heading to Tuckerman Ravine will be especially thankful for the extra depth collected in some of the gullies over the past weeks.

But as always, they will have to be prepared for winter travel on the sometimes-unstable slopes of the ravines.

"The recent snow, rain, and winds created a dynamic snowpack in Tuckerman and Huntington Ravines," says U.S. Forest Service Snow Ranger Chris Joosen. "Each storm added a new layer, and with each new layer comes some degree of instability and the possibility of avalanches." Joosen notes that natural avalanches are common after new snowfall.

U.S. Forest Service snow rangers with the White Mountain National Forest's Mount Washington Avalanche Center study the snowpack in Tuckerman and Huntington ravines each day to determine the potential for avalanches. They compile the daily Avalanche Advisory, which identifies the day's danger rating for the ravines as Low, Moderate, Considerable, High, or Extreme.

In addition to the forecast, the advisories describe the current conditions, hazards, safety, and other vital information about climbing and skiing in the ravines.

Avalanches can and do occur anywhere on the spectrum, even if the rating is Low. Joosen explains that "Each danger rating links to a definition and represents a range of instability and danger — for example, Moderate danger can vary from near Low to almost Considerable danger.

It's important to learn the actual definitions to know what level of danger you may face in any given day."

Check www.tuckerman.org for danger rating definitions and advice for backcountry travel with each rating.

U.S. Forest Service snow rangers as well as Appalachian Mountain Club and Harvard Mountaineering Club caretakers are available in and around the ravines to provide the best and latest information about conditions, and visitors are encouraged to check with them before climbing.

But come prepared, says Joosen. "Tuckerman and Huntington ravines are natural, backcountry places. Visitors are responsible for their own safety. Have your winter climbing skills honed, and have the equipment and knowledge needed to protect yourself and those around you."

Winter visitors are strongly advised to have the right gear for safe travel in the mountains, especially above treeline and on steep snow slopes.

Ice axe and crampons are a must, and an avalanche transceiver, probe, and shovel — and the skill to use them in an emergency — are necessary if you visit avalanche terrain.

Even more important than carrying the right gear is having the knowledge and good judgment you need to survive a winter trip.

"Your avalanche safety gear is a necessary safety net, but if you actually have to use it you've made a series of wrong decisions along the way," says Joosen.

"Know how snowpack stability changes with the weather and the terrain. The weather changes quickly on Mount Washington and your route may take you through a variety of slopes and aspects that may have differing avalanche dangers. It's important to come prepared with avalanche awareness and stay alert to changes as you travel."

Check www.tuckerman.org for daily Avalanche Advisories, pictures of the latest conditions, and more information about visiting Tuckerman and Huntington ravines.

Advisories are also posted at AMC's Pinkham Notch Visitor Center, on information boards at the base of the ravines, and at U.S. Forest Service ranger stations.

Advisories are also recorded daily at (603) 466-2713 (TTY (603) 466-2856).

Visit www.hikesafe.com for more hiking and safety information.

Document your charitable giving

If you plan to take an itemized deduction for charitable donations, be sure you have the required documentation. A cancelled check or credit card receipt is adequate for small donations, but for gifts of $250 or more, you must get a written statement from the charity. If you received something from the charity in return for your donation, you'll need the written documentation for gifts exceeding $75. For tax assistance, call us.

Don't guess whether you qualify for the EITC. Know.

There's a lot to know about qualifying for the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC). You need to work and earn less than $34,892. If you have children, they must meet three qualifying tests. And that's just to name a few. But the most important thing to know is you can get help figuring it all out. Visit us on the web, call 1-800-TAX-1040 or ask your tax preparer. When it comes to getting help claiming everything you honestly deserve, consider it done.

School Sports

High School Boys' Varsity Basketball

Western Maine Class C Quarterfinals: Telstar vs. Traip, Feb. 21 — Sean Caddigan scored 30 points, Josh Longway 10 and Ryan Savage had eight points 12 assists and seven rebounds as #4 Telstar bested #5 Traip Academy 67-47. The Rebels will take on #1 seed Hall-Dale tonight (Thursday, Feb. 24) at 8:30 in the Augusta Civic Center.

Western Maine Class D Quarterfinals: Gould Academy vs. Pine Tree, Feb. 21— For the first time in nine years, the Gould Men's basketball team made it to the Augusta Civic Center for the Western Maine Class D semi-finals. The men played many tight games this season and lost to the #1 seed, Pine Tree Academy, by only seven points in their last regular season game. The first half of the playoff game saw the lead switch back and forth, ending in a tie score at halftime, 27-27, with both teams coming out shooting three pointers and penetrating the paint. However, Pine Tree lit up the floor in the third quarter, out shooting Gould by a ratio of 2:1, and the Breakers never looked back. Senior TJ Savage ended the game with 30 points while Karl Olson and Ian Siekman made significant contributions both offensively and defensively.

High School Girls' Varsity Basketball

Western Maine Class C Quarterfinals: Telstar vs. Dirigo, Feb. 21 — Dirigo, seeded #1, proved too strong for #8 seeded Telstar, defeating the Rebels 59-37. Liz Rosenberg and Abby Wentworth each contributed 11 points in the losing cause. The loss eliminates Telstar from the tournament.

Western Maine Class D Quarterfinals: Gould Academy vs. Hyde School, Feb. 19 — The Gould women's basketball team racked up the most wins (13-5) of any Gould women's team since 1979 on their way to earning a #3 ranking in this year's Western Class D tournament. The Lady Huskies faced the women of Hyde School Saturday at the Augusta Civic Center for the fourth time this season, and the competition did not disappoint. Hyde opened up the lead early in the game and the Lady Huskies of Gould spent the rest of the game catching up. However, as the third quarter opened, Gould poured on the defense in a 1-2-2 press and went on a 12-0 scoring run, evening up the score. It was neck and neck at the buzzer for regulation with freshman Amelia Allen scoring the basket to send the game into overtime. Gould had the lead with 1:20 remaining in overtime but a steal by a Hyde guard resulted in a three-point play at the other end. Gould had two opportunities to tie it up again, one by Tamara Isham and one by Heather Kelleher, but both attempts hit the rim.

High School Boys' X-C Skiing

Division

They were also joined by European ex-patriots eager to return to their homelands to battle the Germans.

The Division trained at Camp Hale in central Colorado, where it was quickly discovered by the press.

The soldiers' winter training — including skiing and rock climbing with 90-pound rucksacks — "made great footage, Jenkins said. "The media establishment loved it."

The Division was on the cover of Life Magazine four times.

In late 1944, the Division shipped out for Italy.

Once in action, its major operations involved driving the retreating but tenacious German Army back through the rugged Apennines.

The fighting was intense, with the Division suffering the highest casualty rate of any in the Italian Campaign.

"They got butchered over there," Jenkins said.

But in another sense, he added, the 10th had the ideal war. "They entered late, they fought hard, and they went home."

The Division is almost as famous for what they did upon returning home.

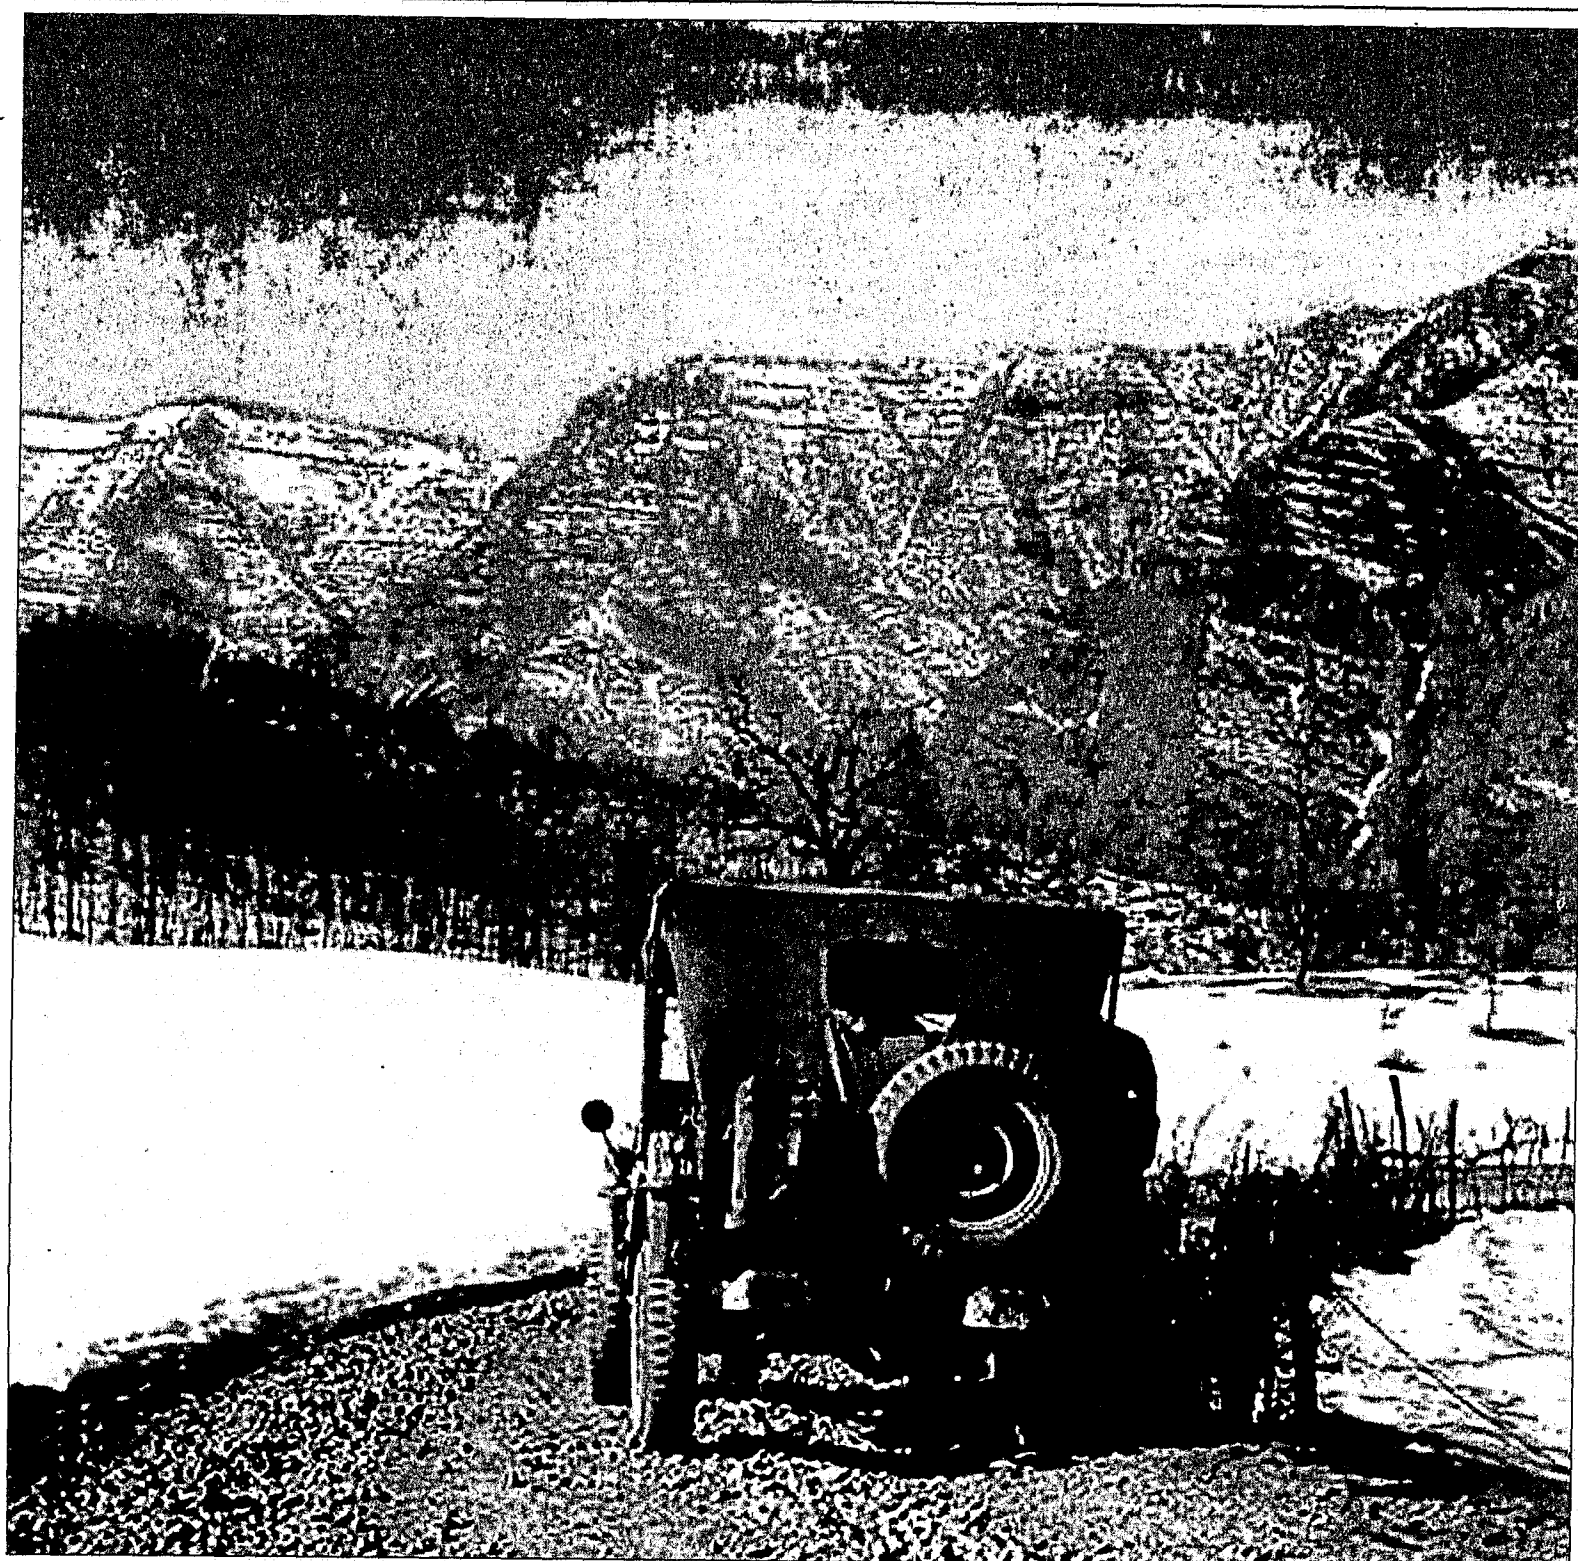

Jenkins said veterans of the 10th (which had the highest I.Q. of any American Division), "started the American ski industry, and were the backbone of the conservation movement."

"You can't go anywhere in New England, anywhere in the Rockies, anywhere in the Sierras without seeing their fingerprints," he said.

Over the years the 10th Mountain Division has been the subject of several books. His own, Jenkins said, is based on the stories of six regular soldiers, stories captured in their personal letters and journals.

In conducting interviews for the book, he said, he was surprised to learn that many of the surviving veterans, now well into their 80s, "are still out there skiing and mountain biking."

"They are no doubt one of the most remarkable groups of men we have ever had," Jenkins said. "The 'Greatest Generation' gets a lot of hype, but these guys really deserve it."

PRESIDENT AND CEO OXFORD HILLS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Oxford Hills Chamber of Commerce is seeking an effective leader to serve as President and CEO of a vibrant and growing business organization in Western Maine. The President is expected to grow the current member base and look for innovative ways to add products and services our members can take advantage of.

Experience and Competencies:

- Ability to think strategically
- Ability to develop, implement, and assess programs
- Strong project management skills
- Good written and verbal communication skills
- Strong financial management skills
- Experience managing volunteers

The President and CEO will be an advocate for members, the Oxford Hills business community, and the overall Western Maine region. In addition, the President should be ready to work with municipal and county governments to enhance the business climate of the Oxford Hills. The President is expected to manage staff, build and sustain local alliances with other organizations, and carry out policies and procedures as developed by the board.

A Bachelors Degree in Business Administration and / or five years of management experience is preferred. U.S. Chamber of Commerce Institute for Organization Management experience a plus.

Salary negotiable based on experience.

Branch Manager

Franklin Savings Bank, a top-ranked community bank in the Western Maine foothills, is seeking a Branch Manager to join its dedicated team.

The successful candidate will oversee two established, very busy branches and serve as a primary lender for the institution. Applicants must have an upbeat demeanor and be community-minded. Established community involvement is a plus. Responsibilities include motivating staff, serving customers, and being a local advocate for our bank.

Prior managerial experience in the banking industry and proven staff development are a must. The ideal candidate will have experience in all aspects of lending including the secondary market, portfolio lending, consumer and commercial lending. Prior knowledge of bank deposit services will be helpful, as well as prior working experience with Microsoft Windows.

Franklin Savings Bank offers an excellent Benefits Package, which includes health, dental, life, disability, vacation, paid holidays, 401(k), and pension plan. Please send cover letter, resume, three professional references and salary requirements by March 1:

Before Buying a Home!

Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what would you like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.

An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into, must have, should have and would be nice to have. By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
WHEN YOU ARE BUYING PROPERTY TO BUILD
You noticed a lot for sale in a suburban area that looks like a perfect place to build your dream home. Buying undeveloped land can provide an opportunity to build a house that will meet your needs, but you will need certain information before you sign on the dotted line.
Most suburban areas have zoning regulations, which govern the type of structure that can be erected, the dimensions, and even the material used on the exterior. Historic preservation groups work with builders in many areas to ensure that any new construction fits in with the existing buildings. If you want to build out of the city limits, check the availability of public utility services and the cost of bringing those services to the site. Local planning and zoning boards can provide you with information about proposed development that could change your quiet country lane into a busy street.
It is a good idea to consult an architect and zoning expert to confirm that your vision will work on the property you have selected.
For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

Obituaries

RUTH H. HERSEY

Ruth Harriet (Davis) Hersey, 87, of New Gloucester, died Wednesday, Feb. 16, 2005 at Ledgeview Living Center, West Paris.

She was born in Tuftonboro, N.H., on Feb. 7, 1918, the daughter of Harry and Sarah (Gilman) Davis.

She married Robert S. Hersey on Nov. 19, 1933, in Tuftonboro. He died Oct. 22, 1978.

She was always a homemaker, and very active in the New Gloucester Bible Church.

She is survived by her son, John and his wife Sheila of North Norway; daughters, Marylou Shattuck and husband Allen of Auburn and Bonnie Hersey of Mechanic Falls; one granddaughter; one sister, Eleanor Knights of Exeter, N.H.; several nieces and nephews; and grand-nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her husband; two sisters, Beatrice Davis and Mildred Dore; and two brothers, Albert Davis and Arthur Davis.

A funeral service was held at Wilson Funeral Home, Gray on Sunday, Feb. 20. Burial will be at Lower Gloucester Cemetery in the spring. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Alzheimer's Association, 162 Lancaster Street, Portland, ME 04101.

ANN LORD BONNEY

Ann Lord Bonney, 73, of Portland, died Feb. 13, 2005, after a short illness.

She was born in Parsonsfield on Sept. 20, 1931, the daughter of Daniel B. and Irene S. Lord.

Ann was a 1950 graduate of Gould Academy. She graduated from the University of Vermont School of Nursing in 1955. She was one of the first graduates of the University of Southern Maine School of Nursing, Family Nurse Associate Program, in 1976.

While at UVM, Ann met her husband, James H. Bonney, MD. In 1961, they began a practice of internal medicine on Vaughan Street and later on Chadwick Street in Portland. They worked together until they closed the practice in 1980.

In the early 1980s she was an instructor in the Family Nurse Associate Program at USM. In the mid-1980s she worked with Dr. Doris Penoyer in her allergy practice. From 1987-1998, she was director of Student Health Services at St. Joseph's College in Windham.

In addition to her devotion to nursing, Ann loved flowers and gardening and enjoyed classical music.

She is survived by her daughter, Leigh Bonney and son-in-law, Larry Ritzhaupt, DVM, of Old Saybrook, Conn.; a brother, David M. Lord of Phoenix, Ariz.; a sister-in-law, Germaine Bonney of Rockland; her good friend, Norm Jabar of South Portland; three nephews; and a step grand-daughter. She was predeceased by her husband in 1994 and by her parents.

A memorial service was held Friday, Feb. 18, at Williston West Church, Portland. Contributions in memory of Ann L. Bonney may be made to Gould Academy, Bethel, ME 04217.

MICHAEL B. BOUCHER

Michael B. Boucher, 55, of 1089 Lewiston Road, Topsham, died on Wednesday, Feb. 16, 2005 shortly after arrival at Parkview Hospital in Brunswick.

Born in Lewiston, July 13, 1949, a son of Norman and Mabel Boudreau Boucher, he attended Sacred Heart School, graduated from ELHS, Class of 1967, and attended Ferris State College in Big Rapids, Mich., and the University of Maine at Orono.

Michael was self-employed as an antique dealer for more than 30 years. Michael enjoyed playing guitar, watching movies, and had a passion for antiques.

He is survived by his wife, the former Lorraine M. Gagne of Topsham, whom he married Sept. 25, 1971; his daughter, Stephanie Boucher of Topsham; his son, Matthew Boucher of Topsham; his mother, Mabel Boucher of Auburn; a sister, Christina Hernandez, her husband, Nelson, and children, Jodi and Nick, all of Sunrise, Fla.; and a brother, Richard Boucher, his wife, Kristi, and son, Logan, of West Paris. He was predeceased by his father in 1980. He will be sorely missed by his family.

LENA MAE BUCK

Lena Mae Buck, 97, formerly of West Paris, died Feb. 22, 2005 at the Market Square Health Care Center, South Paris, following a brief illness.

She was born on the Whitman Farm in Greenwood on Sept. 27, 1907, and was the youngest daughter of Edward and Martha Pike. She was educated in West Paris schools and lived in West Paris for 88 years.

She married Linwood E. Buck of Milton Plantation on Nov. 1, 1927, and lived in the small farm her father built for her on Pioneer Street for 71 years, before moving in with her daughter, Pauline Heikkinen, in Paris Hill in 2002.

She was a homemaker and caretaker of family members all of her adult life. She affectionately loved all her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren. She loved walking, gardening, and watching wildlife. She was admired for her keen memory and quick-witted responses. Her stories of people and events of her days in Greenwood and West Paris filled many hours.

She is survived by daughters, Pauline and husband Walter Heikkinen of Paris Hill, Virginia and husband John Pinker of Plymouth, N.H., and Martha and husband John McCormack of Oxford; son, Linwood and wife Roberta of Fryeburg; daughter-in-law, Janis Buck of West Paris; 12 grandchildren; 23 great-grandchildren; 15 great-great-grandchildren; two great-great-stepgrandchildren; and several nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her parents; husband, Linwood Buck; brother, Eben Pike; sister, Agnes Lowe; two half brothers, Ernest Swan and Archie Swan; two half sisters, Viola Marshall and Minnie Churchill; and one son, Edward Buck.

Graveside services will be held at the Wayside Cemetery, West Paris, in the spring.
